

Statistical Computing and Introduction to Statistical Software	Course Code: B060601T
---	------------------------------

Course outcomes:

After completing this course, a student will have:

- Basic Knowledge of Excel and R programming with some basic notions for developing their own simple programs and visualizing graphics in R and Excel.
- Ability to perform data analysis for both univariate and multivariate data sets using R as well as Excel.